

Extended Response Writing Rubric:

To Receive an "A"	To Receive a "B"	To Receive a "C"	To Receive a "D"	To Receive a "F"
Paragraphs are indented	Paragraphs are indented	Paragraphs are indented	Paragraphs are NOT indented	Paragraphs are NOT indented
All Subjects and verbs agree	Most Subjects and verbs agree	Some Subjects and verbs agree	Numerous Subject verb agreement errors	Some Subjects and verbs agree
Each paragraph has 4-5 strong sentences	Each paragraph has at least 4 strong sentences	Each paragraph has at least 3 moderate sentences	Each paragraph has at least 3 weak sentences	Each paragraph has at least 3 weak sentences
Topic sentence clearly introduces the issue or main claim of your paragraph	Topic sentence clearly introduces the issue or main claim of your paragraph	Topic sentence somewhat introduces the issue or main claim of your paragraph	Topic sentence does not introduce the issue or main claim of your paragraph	Topic sentence does not introduce the issue or main claim of your paragraph
Relevant quotes that support your claims	Relevant quotes that support your claims	Subpar quotes	No quotes	No quotes
Quotes have appropriate stems (sentence starters)	Quotes have appropriate stems (sentence starters)	Quotes have appropriate stems (sentence starters)
End sentence clearly summarizes the paragraph and introduces next paragraph.	End sentence somewhat summarizes the paragraph and introduces next paragraph.	End sentence partially summarizes the paragraph and introduces next paragraph.	End sentence does not summarize the paragraph nor introduce next paragraph.	End sentence does not summarize the paragraph nor introduce next paragraph.